Comprehensive Sexuality Education

UNFPA (United Nations Population Fund)

“Comprehensive sexuality education is a rights-based and gender-focused approach to sexuality education, whether in school or out of school. ... But it also goes beyond information, helping young people to explore and nurture positive values regarding their sexual and reproductive health.”

- Consent-based
- Sexual Rights Emphasis
- Pleasure Instruction (Comprehensive)
- Teaches students how to sexually experiment and indulge
- Shows more - Is more hands on learning
- Evidence Based (These studies are fraudulent and biased)
- Funnels children to big business for contraceptives and abortion services
- Big Business has a lot of money to gain by making the children sexually addicted.
- SIECUS which started with money from Hugh Hefner, Playboy Magazine Business Mogul, promotes CSE. (The sex industry is behind the education)
- Result: Increases Sexual Activity in children who have the classes. Data....
- Normalizes LGBT sexual desires, sexual orientation and gender identity

We have been fighting CSE for many years now!

Why?

More and more schools are accepting CSE under false pretenses every year.

More sexual services are being offered to children than ever before.

How does this happen?

The majority of parents are outraged by children being sexualized, but still don't think that "their school" would offer anything bad to their child.

The people who are trusted in our community are sexualizing children, and they don't even know it sometimes.

What is worse than this?

Databases that are already in your child's school and library and laptop that have WAY more filth than CSE even has.

EBSCO Continues International Expansion with 39-Country Consortium Deal

by Barbara Quint

Posted On October 25, 1999

Continuing its vigorous international marketing program, EBSCO Publishing (<http://www.epnet.com>) has joined with the Open Society Institute, a part of the Soros Foundations Network, to create the Electronic Information for Libraries Direct (EIFL Direct) consortium. The largest information consortium in the world, EIFL Direct encompasses libraries in 39 countries. It opens up access to EBSCO Publishing's range of full-text scholarly and general interest journals.

Included in the consortium are 27 countries in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, 10 countries in Southern Africa, and both Guatemala and Haiti. Within these countries, EIFL Direct invites participation from all types of libraries: academic, noncorporate research, medical, national, and public.

Under the EIFL Direct arrangement, EBSCO Publishing will supply five databases: Academic Search Elite, Business Source Premier, MasterFILE Premier, Newspaper Source, and Comprehensive MEDLINE with FullTEXT. Together, these five files contain full text from over 300,000 articles from 3,200 unique journals, magazines, newspapers, and newswires, as well as over 1,300 full-text brochures and reference books. Scholarly journals in the collection cover humanities, social sciences, education, business, and medicine. The program will tailor access format to the available technology—Web, CD-ROM, or DVD-ROM—of each participating library.

The colorful George Soros, Hungarian Holocaust survivor, naturalized U.S. citizen, currency speculator, and creative philanthropist, donated over $500 million to Central and Eastern Europe in 1998 alone. The philanthropy he has administered through the Open Society Institute has caused some controversy; this year, for example, he began major funding to support decriminalization of drugs in the U.S. and abroad.

Soros created the Soros Foundations Network to build free and open societies by supporting an array of activities dealing with art and culture, the strengthening of civil society, economic reform, education, human rights, legal reform and public administration, media and communications, and public health. The Soros Foundation Network has actively supported library development with over $40 million in funding since 1994 for automation, training, preservation, access, collection development, and improved user service. It sees libraries as a major impetus for information dissemination and support for democratic societies. With print journal collections remaining poor in the area, however, the network sees electronic journals as the "only viable and sustainable option for the future," according to the EBSCO Publishing press release.

Michael Kay, director of electronic publishing for the Open Society Institute (OSI), saluted the new EIFL Direct consortium. "We are making history," he said. "Many of the countries that we served previously had very limited access to the wealth of information available from international scholarly journals. This initiative now gives instant electronic access to scholars, policymakers, and the general public. It will greatly assist these countries' accession into the international information society."

The Open Society Institute has offices in the U.S., Russia, Croatia, Macedonia, and Slovenia. It has funded such programs as the Center on Crime,

Who is EBSCO?

- EBSCO is who the majority of schools and libraries go to for their information services.
- “The Natural Partner” for companies who need a better way to reach their “target audience”, “increase web traffic”, and “increase subscriptions”.
- EBSCO boasts of being an International Company. They provide database services to schools, libraries, hospitals, government buildings, and colleges.
- They market themselves as the “safe way” to search, which makes all their subscribers feel protected. However, the subscribers are finding out they are NOT protected from the filth. EBSCO has put porn in their databases that they call “safe.”
- EBSCO trains libraries on how “to move a community to become radicalized about supporting a cause.” They say they want “radicalized supporters taking significant actions on a library’s behalf to help push social change.”
- George Soros has been a big contributor to EBSCO for his plan to bring about social change through libraries.

Helping Publishers Reach Their Target Audience

About EBSCO

As the world's largest intermediary between publishers and libraries, EBSCO offers many benefits to its publisher partners. EBSCO is the only database aggregator that is also a subscription agent, and as a result, the company has a unique understanding of the needs and concerns of publishers. EBSCO offers publisher partners a variety of ways to gain exposure for their publications in order to maintain and grow their core business.

“Increased use [of content] by faculty and other researchers will likely affect the number of citations to a publisher's journal, enhancing a journal's reputation and the possibility of attracting submissions by prominent researchers. Increasing a journal's visibility in indexing databases should also result in more requests by researchers for institutional subscriptions for academic libraries.”

Global Exposure and Recognition of Publisher Content

EBSCO is the leading provider of databases to thousands of universities, business schools, corporations, medical institutions, schools

Primary Benefits of Partnering with EBSCO:

- ◆ Reach your target audience in libraries around the globe – Over 100,000 libraries worldwide subscribe to at least one EBSCOhost database
- ◆ Maintain and grow your subscriptions – Surveys of librarians show that high usage of publications on databases yields increased subscriptions and renewals<sup>12</sup>
- ◆ Increase Web traffic – Detailed publisher profiles within EBSCO resources include a live link to the publisher's website, driving business back to the publisher
- ◆ Forge a strong partner relationship – EBSCO partners with nearly 14,000 publishers worldwide, and more than 99% of publisher partners renew with EBSCO

EBSCO has an unrivaled number of publisher partners, and continues to build strong partner relationships with impressive growth.

Lexile Level Searching

- EBSCO is searched by lexile level. This means that when simple search words are typed into a search, then articles or images with simple, uneducated words will come up.
- This means the youngest readers and writers are exposed to the most graphic context with crude, explicit language.

Middle School: Article discusses the phenomenon of “sugar dating,” in which an older participant provides financial support to a young participant in return for companionship and/or sex. Documentary “Daddies Date Babies” is recommended by the article.

When looking up “prostitution” search term in EBSCO product, Middle Search Plus, dozens of articles advocating and glamorizing prostitution-type activity are recommended to middle school students.

The screenshot shows the EBSCO Middle Search Plus interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'New Search', 'Publications', 'Subjects', 'Dictionary', and 'More'. On the right side of the top bar, there are links for 'Sign In', 'Folder', 'Preferences', 'Language', 'Help', and 'Exit'. The main search area features the EBSCO logo, a search box containing the term 'prostitution', and a green 'Search' button. Below the search box are links for 'Basic Search', 'Advanced Search', and 'Search History'. The search results are displayed in a list format, with the first result titled 'WHO'S YOUR SUGAR DADDY?'. The article details include the author 'JONES, HEIDAL', the source 'Newswatch Online', the document type 'Article', and a list of subjects such as 'SUGAR DATING', 'PROSTITUTION', and 'DOCUMENTARY FILM'. An abstract is provided at the bottom of the article entry. On the left side of the results area, there are options for 'Detailed Record', 'HTML Full Text', and 'PDF Full Text (U.S. only)'. On the right side, there is a 'Tools' menu with options like 'Add to folder', 'Print', 'E-mail', 'Save', 'Cite', 'Export', 'Create alert', 'Permalink', and 'Share'. The user's name 'MOUNTAIN RIDGE MIDDLE' is visible in the top right corner.

...Estimated that hundreds of schools around the U.S. have shut down EBSCO and many more have demanded “clean up”...

...But Can They Be Trusted??

Cengage Product in middle schools, Gale Database, provides opposing viewpoints on 200 topics. The webpage on “prostitution” prominently links to this “escort” recruiting website which encourages girls to sign up on the site.

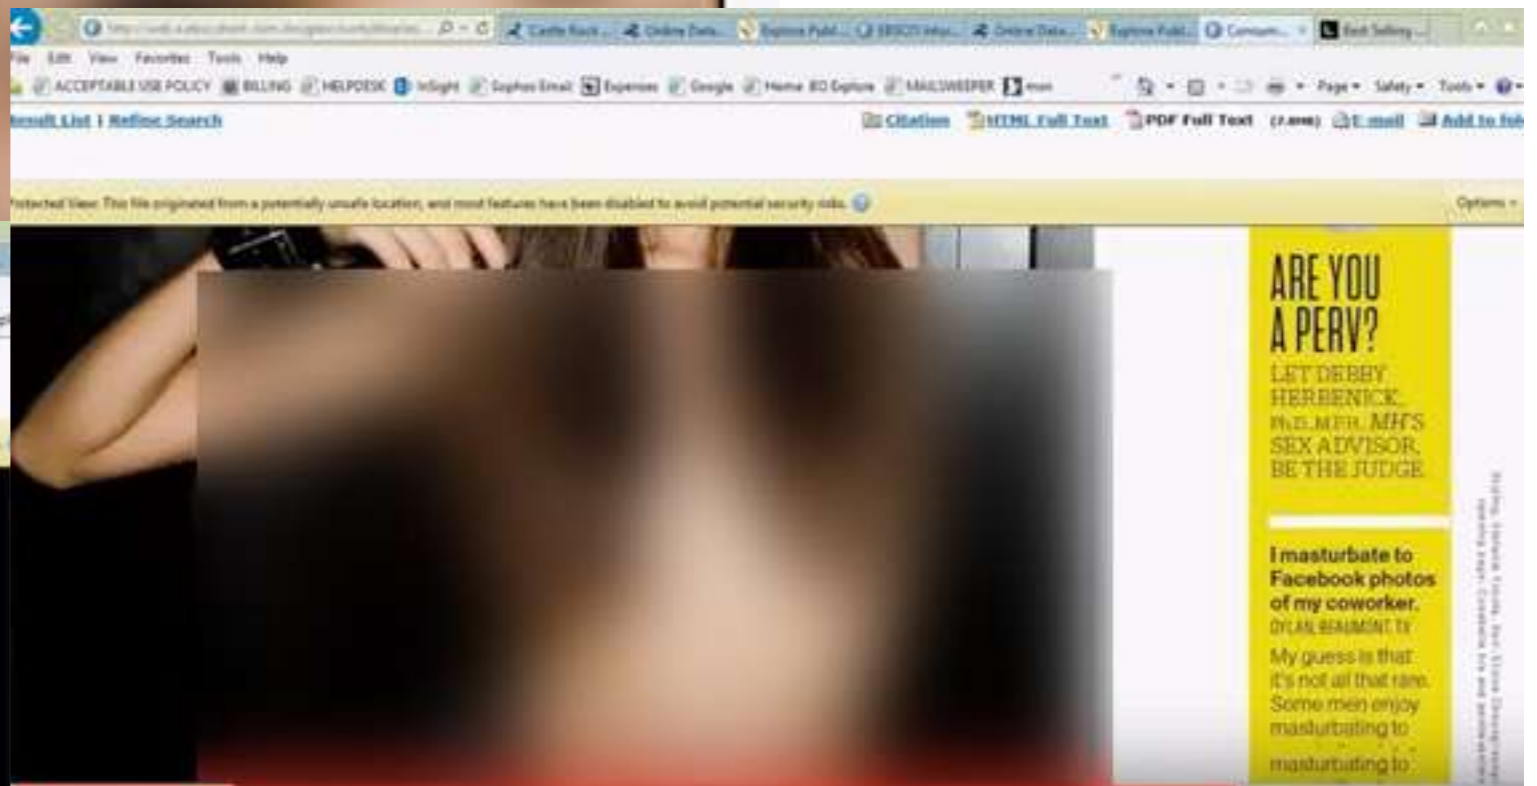

EBSCO product Novelist provides access to tens of thousands of erotica novels, many are available for download and most of them provide extensive excerpts with graphic depictions of sexual violence and sexual activity.

Article “Tired of Dinner and a Movie” in middle school platform yields BDSM-themed images and graphic language, as well as instruction on sexual positions and fantasies.

Example excerpt from one random book we clicked on includes a graphic scene where a woman is violently raped with a gun.

CANDY LICKER

"Tma put something in your ass," he said in a low voice. "Put something in there that'll shut you right the fuck up."

I almost screamed again when I saw what he had in his hand.

That crazy motherfucker was holding a gun.

And not one of those regular old Saturday night specials either. I'd seen this kind of gun before, it was Seagram's favorite piece. A .44 caliber Magnum with a hair trigger. The kind of shit you roll with when you wanna blow a niggah's brains out through the back of his head.

Hurricane cursed and slapped the barrel across my mouth, busting open my bottom lip. I swallowed blood and panicked when I saw the crazy look in his eyes. My teeth were clenched but he forced me to open them shits, shoving that barrel halfway down my throat, then taking it out and cracking it first against my collarbone and then dead on the tip of my elbow. I yelped and rolled over, balling up in a knot and cradling the black pain that ran from my shoulder all the way down to my fingertips. Suddenly he was on top of me again, and the cold metal was being pushed between

What is CIPA?

- The Children's Internet Protection Act was implemented in 2001 and amended in 2008.<sup>[2]</sup>
- CIPA requires schools and libraries to meet certain internet safety requirements in order to receive E-rate funding.<sup>[3]</sup>
- The E-rate funding a school or library receives serves as discount on programs to make them more affordable.<sup>[3]</sup>

Becoming CIPA Certified

- Schools and libraries must confirm that they have implemented an internet protection policy that blocks certain content. [2]
  - This includes material that is:
    - Obscene
    - Child Pornography
    - Harmful to minors
- In addition, schools and libraries must give a reasonable notice and hold one public meeting or hearing to discuss the policy proposal.[2]

Tiegan Ziegler Cherry Creek school district is what they mean here. The district decided to not renew their EBSCO subscription this year. So, my library district has made a concerted effort to visit their schools and get kids signed up for library cards, since our libraries still have EBSCO despite this family's efforts, so kids can still do their research for their homework at the public library..

Grants & Funding Sources for Libraries

State & Federal Resources

- LSTA - Library Services and Technology Act

LSTA focuses on priorities important to the 21st library – access to information technology, “information empowerment through special services.” Funding gives states the ability to set their own guidelines, making it one of the more flexible funding resources available for a variety of states. States can use LSTA funds to offer professional development workshops for public librarians to learn and implement technology purchases specific to their state’s library system. ## ALA Statements

Free Speech Coalition

Non-Profit Trade Association

The Free Speech Coalition is a non-profit trade association of the pornography and adult entertainment industry in the United States. Founded in 1991, it opposes the passage and enforcement of obscenity laws and many censorship laws.

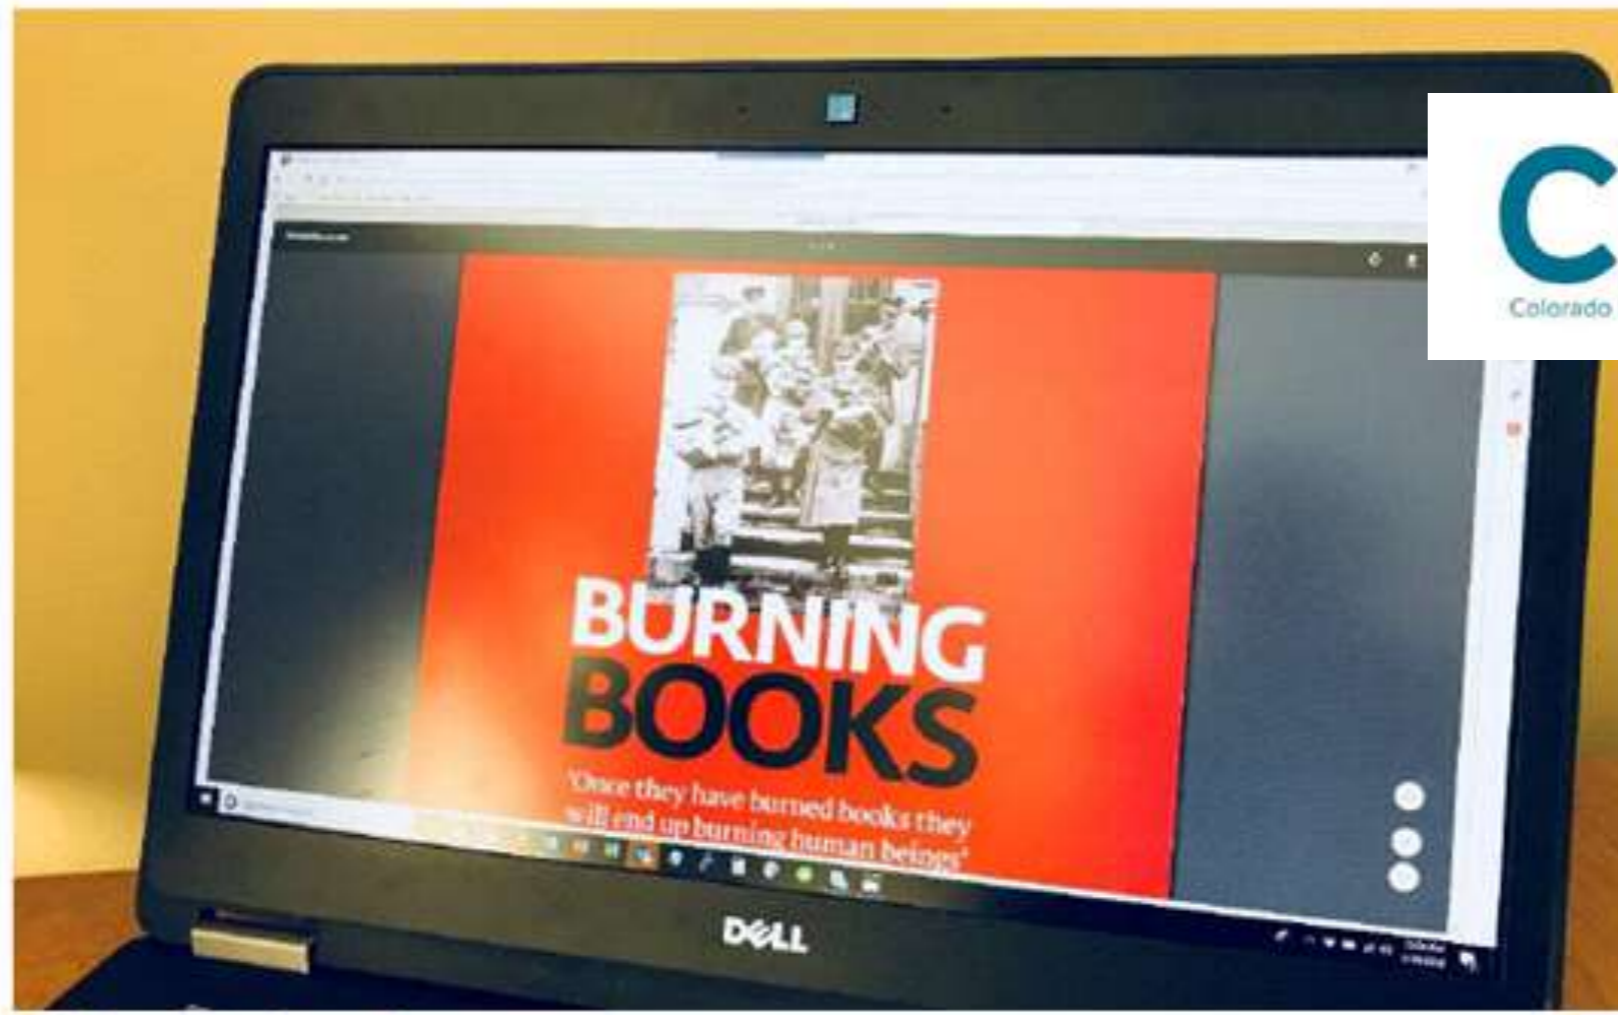

- Both oppose passage and enforcement of obscenity laws
- ALA sued to overturn CIPA
- ALA worked with FSC to overturn Child Porn Protection Act
- Drag Queen story hour workshops at ALA Conference
- ALA hires Pornhub writers for "Intellectual Freedom" blog
- Across US, ALA has fought every attempt to filtering EBSCO, and legislation to hold suppliers accountable

Around the US, every effort to remove porn from EBSCO K12 databases has been met with fierce resistance from the ALA and its affiliates

- working inside schools, they push back against parents and teachers who complain
- send representatives to testify against legislation
- produce propaganda to sway public opinion and “instruct” librarians on their expected conduct

Case in Point: Colorado Library Consortium and ALA produce propaganda equating the filtering of obscenity for minors with pouring gasoline over stacks of books...

In Colorado, it's very real. A modern-day book-burning crusade is underway. Two or more individuals claiming that databases are full of pornographic content are demanding a statewide ban of ALL such products, including electronic resources from EBSCO, Gale/Cengage, Proquest and digital content from OverDrive.

TO BEGIN: A QUICK QUIZ

A patron stomps to the service desk, bristling with indignity. She's brandishing a book and shaking with adrenaline-fueled fury. "Why are you forcing this SMUT on our children?!" she demands.

Do you:

- a) Label her a crazy lady and turn her away
- b) Listen carefully to her concerns, then explain the procedure for formally challenging the book
- c) Nod in rapt attention, agree with her concerns, then formally withdraw the book from the collection based solely on her personal opinion
- d) Undertake a comprehensive review of every book in the library containing "those salacious words" and then razor-slice the offensive pages out of each volume
- e) Race through the library waving a can of gasoline, spraying the stacks liberally, then toss a match before exiting the building

Jim Duncan | Executive Director | CLiC

The ALA is in our schools

- All over the country, librarians are expected to anonymously “report” coworkers who “challenge” or “censor” K12 media based on age (violation of ALA Bill of Rights For Minors)
- ALA affiliate, FTRF, steps in with “financial and legal assistance” to “fight censorship”
- To the ALA, “censorship” can be as benign as just filtering porn, or selecting age appropriate books
- ALA inserts members into schools as employees who may act to replace school obscenity policies with ALA “Bill of Rights”

Orwellian ALA Tactics

Report Censorship

- All over the country, librarians expected to anonymously “report” coworkers who “challenge” or “censor” K12 media based on age (violation of ALA Bill of Rights For Minors)
- Affiliate, FTRF, steps in with “financial and legal assistance” to “fight censorship”
- Censorship can be as simple as filtering porn, or selecting age appropriate books
- School employees have conflicted interest as ALA Members and usurp internal policies

- Library Leadership Meetings held in secret

What happens when the ALA gets inside our schools?

THE ISSUE

Decades of studies from major institutions have demonstrated significant impacts of porn consumption for individuals, relationships, and society.

CAN PORN IMPACT RATES OF SEXUAL ASSAULT?

What can we do??

- Find legislators who will sponsor bills to hold suppliers accountable
- Get your SCHOOL and LEGISLATORS to acknowledge the harms of porn for minors (Fight the New Drug has useful talking points, visuals and refs) (Focus on hot button issues like “mental health”, “sexual assault”...)
- Attend meetings: insist that your school & public libraries remove the porn in K12 EBSCO & GALE (Don't be “polite” – make them look at it in public!)
- Call the news! Focus on violence against women as a “popular” bi-partisan media issue
- Anticipate attacks by the ALA – Private Lobby Group – Dark Money

Studies have found that frequency of porn use correlates with depression, anxiety, stress, and social problems.

Room for another UK sex industry?

Room for another in UK sex industry?

German sex shop chain Beate Uhse believes the sexually liberated UK is ready for it. But although the mainstream sex industry is thriving, that doesn't mean the British have an appetite for another Ann Summers. By Gemma Charles

A German sex invasion is storming the UK from the unlikely bridgehead of Sutton in Surrey, the site for a new sex shop chain called Beate Uhse. The German chain hopes to capitalise on a change in attitudes towards sex in the UK. Once renowned for being sexually repressed, the British are now seen as ready, willing and able to welcome a new chain plying risqué underwear and adult objects. So much so that the German chain has positioned its first UK outlet opposite McDonald's on the high street of suburban Sutton.

Beate Uhse, which operates 200 shops across Austria, Germany, Italy, Spain and Switzerland, has no doubt noticed the Brits' insatiable interest in sleazy tabloid-style sexual revelations, the likes of which have recently catapulted Sven Goran Eriksson, Angus Deayton and former prime minister John Major into the spotlight.

The German chain is not alone in promoting an acceptable face for bedroom naughtiness to consumers. It joins veteran sex shop chain Ann Summers and purveyors of upmarket lingerie Agent Provocateur. But the very nature of the business automatically attracts, and in some cases "live performances" in addition to its 200-strong chain of shops.

Entry into the UK retail market is the next step in an international expansion strategy that the company has been pursuing since its flotation on the German stock exchange in 1999.

But the Sutton store is very different from Beate Uhse's usual fare. It is aimed at women, unlike the majority of the company's activities which in the past have tended to have a strong male focus. Michael Vaughan, Beate Uhse's UK retail executive, says the shop is a new format targeting women, and that only four others of this type exist. He shirks away from describing it as a sex shop, instead preferring the less snappy moniker "a high street store selling lingerie and club wear with a discreet area for toys".

Vaughan says the company would not have considered this kind of venture as recently as two years ago, but a seismic shift "in sexual attitudes has made it possible".

"Attitudes have changed enormously in the past five to ten years, and even more dramatically in the past two. There are some broad factors, such as more divorces meaning more single women, more women living alone and more equality, that account for this. Women generally have greater control of their lives."

Margaret Thatcher, who is not the first person that naturally springs to mind when it comes to sexual revolution, is named by Vaughan, along with the Spice Girls as people who have showed that women can be in control. He adds that racy TV programmes such as Sex in the City and Ally McBeal, which feature the sexual exploits of successful women, have also shaped people's thinking.

Even family food brand McVitie's has entered into the spirit. Earlier this year it launched a sampling campaign for its new biscuit brand ▶ horror transmutations—sexy and shy, Frankenstein's monster, werewolves—along with the current inclination to decode that particular film genre in terms of a queer subtext. The speeded-up opening sequence with hands frantically removing a man's jacket and shirt exposes not the bright red S on Superman's jersey (to invoke pop culture's ur-paradigm of closeted identity) but a pair of telltale female breasts. When Pohjola's post-op protagonist unwinds the surgical bandages (a clever reversal of the action with which she bound her breasts earlier), you fleetingly recall Claude Rains's moment of shocking disclosure in The Invisible Man while on your way to contemplating the unencumbered chest of the new Visible Man.

The associations proliferate. A theatrically surreal bit of backstory that shows a left-handed little girl punished for her manual deviance by a smooth-checked schoolmaster—not to mention a shattered mirror that cascades like water—surely would have drawn a nod of approval from Cocteau. And when the main character makes two forays into the outside world, once to test an attempt at cross-dressing and again following surgery, the film's point of view briefly switches to the first person, shifting from color to grainy black and white, vignetted and obscured by a streaming pattern, as if to evoke the "alienated" perspective of sci-fi film sequences shot through the watchful eyes of the extraterrestrial Other among us.

The Helsinki-based Pohjola made his U.S. gallery debut last fall at New York's Klemens Gasser & Tanja Grunert with projections of P(lain Truth and Routemaster—Theatre of the Motor (1999), a 17-minute, eye-jamming, ear-scorching exercise in sensory overload that manipulates footage from stock-car racing and automobile crash tests involving cadavers. At once techno-cerebral and damp with testosterone, Routemaster walks a different walk. But both works are disciplined demonstrations of filmmaking's array of formal correlatives for extremes of human experience and perception. And both rely on the mutual support of image and audio—musical and otherwise—while excluding the spoken word.

For the soundtrack of P(plain Truth, Glenn Branca's nerve-jangling "Symphony No. 6, Fifth Movement, Devil Choirs at the Gates of Heaven" gives voice to the protagonist's self-loathing, the implacable strangeness of her circumstances, her mounting desperation. A tender, hesitant, Satie-like passage from Roger Eno's "A Place in the Wilderness" accompanies the character's rebirth and baptismal swim in a public pool on the night reserved for men. Two jolting samples from the early '90s industrial-metal pioneers Ministry caffeinate the titles. Sonically more feral, Routemaster incorporates music by Merzbow, NON and Wieslaw Pogorzelski, and exists in three audio versions—an original live-music San Francisco Mix, a London Dance Mix and a Tokyo Noise Mix (they were projected successively at Gasser & Grunert)—though the overwhelming element in all is the electronically engineered roar that connotes the utter derangement of unbridled mechanical speed.

Secret sex with drama teacher

American Accent

Region: scot Section: News Edition: 01

Dear Deidre

I AM having mind-blowing sex with a teacher at my school but she is married and her boss nearly caught us recently.

I am 17 and doing A levels. I did theatre studies at GCSE last year and our group was apparently the best for years.

The teacher was new to the school and spent a lot of time with us because she wanted us to get brilliant results.

We put on a Christmas revue and she was the producer.

While rehearsing, I realised she was subtly flirting with me. Every boy in the school fancied her and I felt special.

The production was a huge success and we had a party after the final performance. We couldn't drink alcohol at school so the others went into town but I offered to help our teacher clear up. She was very grateful and hugged me to say thank you.

I couldn't help responding as she has an amazing figure and we ended up having sex. It was fantastic. Afterwards, we talked and she said it couldn't happen again — but it did.

Since then we have been meeting up regularly for sex. It has been a brilliant experience for me, though keeping it a secret from my friends has been difficult.

I am not doing theatre studies at A level but I want to help with this year's Christmas show.

One afternoon after school last week we were sorting out the room where the drama costumes and props are stored. We got carried away and were about to have sex when we

Daddy

The term daddy usually refers to an older male in a romantic or sexual relationship with a younger person. More than a simple indication of a couple's difference in chronological age, however, daddy signals a particular role in an unequally structured relationship in which the male has greater financial resources or more social power or cultural authority than his partner. The term covers a variety of possible roles and relationships, with different but related meanings in heterosexual and gay male cultures.

HETEROSEXUAL DADDIES

younger woman, independent of any financial considerations.

GAY DADDIES

Age differences in male-male sexual relationships have been a socially approved practice in a variety of cultures from premodern Japan and Mughal India to the Middle East. The most familiar example of such relationships in Western culture, however, is the concept of paiderastia in ancient Greece, in which an older male would act as the mentor, protector, role model, and lover of a youth between the ages of fourteen and twenty (Crompton 2003). Although this practice bears similarities to some contemporary notions of the daddy role in gay culture, the vast historical and cultural differences between paiderastia and twentieth-century conceptions of homosexuality make it difficult to draw a clear connection between the two. The meaning of daddy in gay culture can best be thought of as a twentieth-century concept signaling a dominant role in a male-male relationship that is unequally structured in one of several possible ways.

Problem= EBSCO comes under scrutiny, porn shifting to GALE K12 Databases

GALE markets its databases to schools as “thoughtful, “curriculum aligned”. But, the reality? Stuffed with Sex Industry Ads like this one for “HimEros” TV targeting kids as young as 13 yrs old.

OUTLINE OF CONCERNS

- 1. Many of America's schools use ineffective filtering software and do not have a dedicated or trained individual who oversees these filters.
- 2. Some schools are issuing personal devices to students (as young as Kindergarten) without effective filters & restrictions in place. Parents are often not notified or not educated on the potential dangers.
- 1. The Children's Internet Protection Act (CIPA) is not being adequately enforced and may no longer be an adequate law given new technology developments and practices in schools and libraries.
- 1. Most K-12 schools subscribe to online research databases which are filled with pornography and sexually explicit material, bypassing the school filters. Examples from EBSCO Information Services, available in thousands of schools in the U.S. included here.

How To Fight Database Companies

- First, gain access to library and school databases.
- Take screen shots.
- Go to high level officials. Demand a clean up. Check into obscenity laws.
- Expose it in the media.
- Educate and mobilize the people.
- Law Suits. —Colorado example
- Audits
- Follow up. Hold them accountable.

2 Pronged Approach

- 1 - Work with law makers and school administrators to put pressure on Database Companies. Encourage them to stop their subscriptions.
- 2 - Encourage parents to be with their children when they search and practice good digital safety skills.

These corrupt databases “go beyond information”
just like the CSE programs do.
Explicit databases and CSE both:

- Consent-based (=Book Burning
- Sexual Rights Emphasis
- Pleasure Instruction (Comprehensive)
- Teaches students how to sexually experiment and indulge
- Shows more - Is more hands on learning
- Evidence Based (These studies are fraudulent and biased) (International)
- Funnels children to big business for contraceptives and abortion services
- Big Business has a lot of money to gain by making the children sexually addicted.
- SIECUS which started with money from Hugh Hefner, Playboy Magazine Business Mogul, promotes CSE. (The sex industry is behind the education) George Soros is behind EBSCO
- Result: Increases Sexual Activity in children who have the classes. Data....
- Normalizes LGBT sexual desires, sexual orientation and gender identity
- All are being funded by the sex industry.
