WELCOME TO THE GOLDEN AGE OF SEX.

WELCOME TO THE GOLDEN AGE OF SEX.

FIND THE MISSING KINK

Nearly half the women surveyed have tried light bondage. Sure enough, when we asked women what they like in bed, words like "take charge," "get rough," and "dominance" came up a lot. "Fifty Shades of Grey tapped into something that's been around in women forever and ever," says Fisher. "I call it the iquana syndrome." Wait, what? A female iquana will lie on her stomach, raise her butt, and surrender to the male. "If either one doesn't play his or her part perfectly, the copulation doesn't occur," Fisher says. "She has to surrender. I think dominance and submission, which should probably be called surrender, is all a vast human construct on a basic primordial strategy in which the woman surrenders completely and the man totally dominates to impress her." We command you to try. See "Bondage 101" (below) from BDSM educator Simone Justice. Of course, that's a rough estimate.

Bondage 101

Set a timer to limit a session—this fosters both safety and urgency. Start small. Like hair tugging (grab at the roots). For spanking, lightly stroke the fleshy part, gradually increasing the intensity. Bind ankles or wrists with ties or scarves; be sure one finger fits beneath. Too soon for whips? Use your fingers. Scratch, tick, pinch, and

ONLINE RESEARCH DATABASES

Schools are increasingly supplementing their curriculum by assigning students to use online research databases.

ALL of the databases available to K-12 schools checked by NCOSE contained sexually explicit materials.

Providers include:

- EBSCO Information Services
- Cengage
- ProQuest
- OverDrive

These databases market their products to schools and libraries as curriculum- and age-appropriate.

The databases are only filtered based on Lexile measurements, a system that evaluates the reading level of material. Pornography consists mostly of low-lexile words.

Yet other recent productions from the same site have expanded these generic Russian themes to include a higher degree of both violence and sexual humiliation. In one such film, three young women are severely disciplined by heavily tattooed captors who threaten to sell their body parts if their orders are disobeyed. In another film, the same miscreants terrorize a mother and her two daughters after gaining entry to their home by asking to borrow water and a potato, and in yet another story in which the entry ruse is an electrical problem in the apartment building, beatings are linked to humiliation in the form of rape through the insertion of foreign objects (www.russian-discipline.com/dir023.html; www.russian-discipline.com/dir022.html; www.russian-discipline.com/dir021.html, 2010). As a result, the company has a unique understanding of the needs and concerns of publishers, and offers various ways for publishers to gain exposure for their publications and explore options for supplemental revenue streams.

Extensive History of Working with Both Publishers and Libraries

For more than 60 years, EBSCO has worked closely with both libraries and publishers. As a natural intermediary between these two groups, EBSCO shares the interest of both the libraries that we serve and the publishers with whom we work:

- EBSCO is the database partner for thousands of publishers representing tens of thousands of publications
- EBSCO understands the unique needs of different publisher partners (commercial

Extensive Sales Force with Global Reach

EBSCO's sales power is a great asset to our publisher partners. The company has a direct sales group of more than 300 professionals worldwide who are trained to sell magazine & journal subscriptions, and online databases.

Each member of EBSCO's sales team specializes in working with specific library types and other institutions. This allows each representative to have a thorough understanding of the needs and concerns of our customers in all areas of research, reference and study (academic, medical, corporate, K-12 schools, public libraries, government, etc.). In addition, EBSCO has many librarians, healthcare professionals, and other experts on staff working in the capacity of sales representatives, customer account specialists, trainers, etc. It is this level of attention to detail and quality in staffing that helps publishers to reach their objectives, as EBSCO continues to expand its worldwide presence through increasing market share.

Colorado School Parents Celebrate Victory Over School-Based Pornography

Parents are claiming a major victory after one of the largest school districts in Colorado acknowledged on September 7, 2018 that it has discontinued purchasing or using any products for students from EBSCO, a company that embeds pornography in its databases marketed for unsuspecting school children across the nation.

For the last two years, a group of parents and citizens – with recent assistance from the Thomas More Society – have waged an unrelenting struggle against the Denver-area Cherry Creek School District. Parents have requested either that the district require EBSCO to clean up its database for school children or cancel its EBSCO contract altogether.

EBSCO provides online research databases to over 55,000 elementary schools, middle schools and high schools across the country. It markets its databases for school children specifically as being age-appropriate and reliable. But unknown to most parents, the databases are anything but safe or kid-friendly.

women. Plus, I like to see men doing to each other what they do to women—yeah, do it to each other for a change and leave us out of it! 'No woman was harmed in the making of this film!'"

Some women reported a preference for written porn. S., a 35-year-old butch lesbian, takes turns reading hot gay male porn aloud with her "boi" partner, M., a 39-year-old lesbian. She says that her partner would rather read gay porn than watch it because it releases her imagination to create her own mental pictures, so her own fantasy is not spoiled by her distaste for the often-volcanic climax shots in those videos.

Steven Scarborough, a longtime gay male porn director with Hot House Entertainment, knows that lesbians are big fans of gay male porn. "I have always had lots of lesbian friends who love it," he told me recently. "I think it's like sport for them. Or maybe it removes any awkwardness they might feel about desire for actual men. It takes the real experience out of their faces."

Bay Area lesbian sex therapist and author Marny Hall noted the erotic power that gay male porn wields over some of her lesbian clients. "One of the libido-goosing homework assignments I give to lesbian couples who come in for sex therapy is a trip to the local sex emporium," says Hall. "I ask them to browse, pick out some erotica that appeals to them. Over the years, I've found that couples often come home from these excursions with porn that features

Where to Find Real Lesbian-Made Porn

Cyberdyke Network

<http://www.cyber-dyke.net/>

"The erotic network for lesbians only." High quality visuals for every porn taste.

Pervgrrl
